Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 05 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers, blustery winds and feeling cold.

Today:
Cloudy start with blustery winds and showers. These will continue feeding in from the North Sea through the day, with the best of the drier and brighter intervals in the west. Winds gradually easing by the evening. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy evening, with any lingering showers becoming confined to eastern parts, before fading by midnight. Some clearer spells developing for a time, with patchy fog possible. Cloud thickening by dawn. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Monday:
Rain spreading east, persistent and heavy for a time, with strong gusty winds. Rain clearing through the afternoon, with sunny spells following, but staying rather windy and feeling cold. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Frosty start Tuesday. Turning very windy, with rain spreading east. Further showers or more prolonged rain likely Wednesday and Thursday, but also some brighter spells. Winds gradually easing.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.